Transport Canberra and City Services directorate has searched its records and located two documents (plans). I have applied the public interest test under section 17 of the Act and I have determined that disclosure of the information captured is not contrary to public interest.

Dear [REDACTED]

Traffic Signals Antill Street/ Badham Street, Dickson

I refer to your letter of 16 April 2018 requesting information on the operation of the traffic signals at the intersection of Antill Street and Badham Street in Dickson on 2 September 2016 between 9:30pm and 12:00am.

Attached are copies of drawing numbers S-298-1 and S-298-4. Both drawings show the layout of the intersection. One indicates the traffic signage and line-marking arrangements. The other shows the location of the traffic signal hardware and vehicle detector loops and includes a diagrammatic representation of all the signal phases the signal controller is capable of running. That phasing is as follows:

- Phase A Green roundels plus red right-turn arrows for eastbound traffic on Antill Street. Green roundels for westbound traffic on Antill Street. Red roundels plus red left-turn arrows for Badham Street.
- Phase B & D Green roundels plus green right-turn arrows for eastbound traffic on Antill Street. Red roundels for westbound traffic on Antill Street. Red roundels plus red left-turn arrows for Badham Street.
- Phase C This is the phase for traffic exiting Badham Street and has two options. In both options the signals for Antill Street are red roundels plus red right-turn arrows for eastbound traffic and red roundels plus green left-turn arrows for Antill Street westbound. If a pedestrian demand is registered to cross Antill Street, red left-turn arrows are displayed alongside green roundels for Badham Street. The red arrows are illuminated for 15 seconds while the pedestrian walk signal is being displayed and then drop out. If no pedestrian demand to cross Antill Street is registered then a green roundel without the left turn red arrows are displayed for Badham Street.

At all times, the permitted phase sequence is A-C-D. Phase A appears automatically and is the phase in which the signals rest if there is no traffic. All other phases only appear if a vehicle or pedestrian demand for the phase has been registered.

These traffic signals are connected to a central computer system that controls their operation and monitors them automatically for faults. I have checked the computer fault log and there is no entry for this intersection at the time and date in question.

If you wish to discuss this matter further please give me a call on 6207 [REDACTED]

Yours sincerely
